ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY
NORMAL, ILLINOIS
VOLUME 78

Once a university sets a foundation,

Near familiar places –

steel structures

evolve into buildings.

New ideas are born —

and multiply —

as they are communicated.

Life promises
new joys

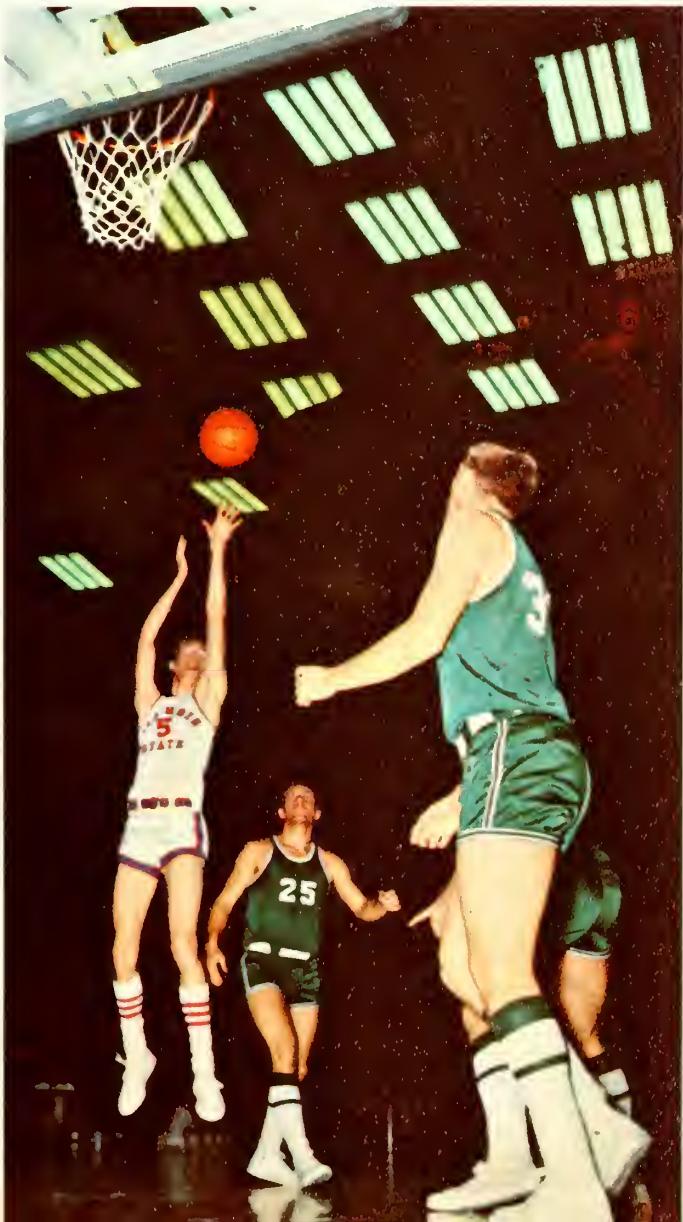

and duties.

Enthusiasm

ideas materialize.

Time challenges us.

ADMINISTRATORS CLUB

Administrators Club functions under the Department of Educational Administration in the College of Education. Members cooperated with the university in improving graduate study in school administration. At the two annual meetings, State Senator Paul Symon and President Samuel Braden spoke to the members.

ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

The Association for Childhood Education is the campus organization for Elementary Education majors. Guest speakers talked to the club, and a panel of grade school students discussed their favorite qualities in a teacher. The members worked on a project to help children.

ADMINISTRATORS CLUB Back to Front: Ben Hubbard, adviser; James Howard, vice-president; George Richmond, secretary-treasurer; Barry Farnhom, president.

ENGLISH CLUB

This year the English Club furthered its activities in literature and drama. Mr. Lonn Presnell of the Children's Theater in Normal spoke to the members on the role of creative dramatics in teaching English, and Dr. Richard Graebel spoke on the life and works of Carl Sandburg. The club also sponsored trips to plays.

A quiet morning finds a solitary student on a bench in a far corner of campus.

GERMAN CLUB Jack Wagner, adviser; Sandy Wallen, treasurer; Marlys Lyles, secretary; Dave Mendriski, vice-president; Alex Lueneburg, president.

GERMAN CLUB

This year the German Club sponsored a dance in order to raise money for a trip to Chicago. The trip was to a German section of the city where the group attended a German play and dined at a German restaurant. Speakers this year included Professor Pfabel and three ISU co-eds who recently returned from Germany.

After the class session is over, a lecture hall furnishes a quiet place to read.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB Paulo Johnson, treasurer; Diene Miller, secretary; Ceral Bronoski, president; Betty Elder, vice-president.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

A main event for the Home Economics Club was a speaker from Merle Norman Cosmetics. This cosmetologist spoke to the organization and demonstrated products and their methods of application. Again this Christmas, the club sponsored a service project for a needy family in the Bloomington-Normal area.

I CLUB

The major project of I Club, the organization for ISU's lettermen, was the sponsorship of Homecoming. The members held the elections for Homecoming Queen and gave an alumni tea. Other projects were the adoption of a new constitution, the presentation of sports films, and the sponsorship of a dance with Wesleyan.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The Industrial Arts Club of ISU helped its department by providing guides during the annual spring open house. The organization sponsored a fall picnic and a booth at the AWS Activities Round-up. Workmanship earned the club first place in Homecoming float competition for the fourth consecutive year.

A student in chemistry assembles distillation apparatus for an experiment.

ISU DAMES CLUB

In its two years of existence, ISU Dames Club has worked to promote a spirit of friendliness and to stimulate the social and intellectual interest of its members. Members of the club are married women students or wives of students. The club extended its hospitality to Mrs. Braden by honoring her at the annual tea.

ISU JUDO CLUB

The ISU Judo Club strives to promote Judo as an art, a science, and a philosophy through instruction, demonstrations, clinics, and contests. The organization extends beyond ISU's campus in coordination with Bloomington-Normal YMCA. Several members have received invitations to compete for entry in the Pan-Am Games.

In Centennial West an art student assembles material for her weaving project.

Students in one of the chemistry labs of Felmley Hall mix compounds and set up equipment for the day's experiments.

ISU TUTORIAL PROJECT

About two hundred and sixty students worked on the Tutorial Project this year. These volunteers tutored two days each week at Illinois Soldier's and Sailor's Children's School, Victory Hall, Lucy Orme Morgan Home, and Booker T. Washington Home. After orientation meetings in the fall, a special problems workshop was held.

KAPPA PHI MU Front Row: Ronald Montgomery, president; Bertha Sallee, Alfred Perkins, secretary. Back Row: Wayman Freeman, Jesse James, Dennis Best, Fred Hunter, treasurer; Fred Gletten.

KAPPA PHI MU

Kappa Phi Mu is a social service fraternity which performs service to the University and the community and provides social outlets for the student body. The members of Kappa Phi Mu helped the NAACP with their Homecoming float. They also helped with the Red Cross bloodmobile.

LA TERTULIA HISPANICA Barb Gilbert, secretary-treasurer; Shirley Faabri, vice-president; Paul Carlson, president; Luellen Laurenti, adviser.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS Barb Gilbert, vice-president; Boba Fay, treasurer; Colleen Benson, secretary; Anna Turney, president; George Petrossian, adviser.

LA TERTULIA HISPANICA

La Tertulia Hispanica gives students of Spanish an opportunity to get together and speak Spanish in a social setting throughout the year. The club sponsored a poetry contest in the spring. Students who have studied in Spanish-speaking countries spoke of their experiences and showed slides at the meetings.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais attempts to acquaint its members with French culture and customs. Guest speakers this year included both students and professors who have traveled abroad. Other highlights included the Monte Carlo Night and two campus dances, whose proceeds went to the club scholarship fund.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

In its efforts to bring students and instructors closer together, the Mathematics Club sponsored several student-faculty activities. They held a Homecoming tea and a Christmas party. This year's Homecoming float was a joint project with Kappa Mu Epsilon, as was a picnic for the families of members and faculty.

LLOYD SHAW DANCERS

In January, 1966 the Lloyd Shaw Dancers were organized to provide an outlet for experienced dancers and to demonstrate the beauty of American dance to students, teachers, and educators. In the spring the group sponsored tours to high schools in nearby areas during which the dancers demonstrated square and round dances.

MEN'S PE CLUB Mike Mooberry, secretary; Ernie Wilhelm, Robert Singer, adviser; Jerry Heller, treasurer; Roland Axelson, president; Joe Scorpino, vice-president.

Someone is either very industrious or has left the desk neat for the next guy.

MEN'S PE CLUB

The Men's PE Club was started to further the interest in PE by providing activities that bring out the full meaning of physical education physiologically, intellectually, and socially. The club started an honorary fraternity, worked on having student leaders in activity classes, and held an all-school "play night."

NAACP

The members of NAACP strive to promote better human relations in the best interest of university minority groups. The major activity this year was an investigation of the housing ordinance passed by Normal City Council and its implications for the minority group students. The club sponsored discussions and speakers.

Players in a chess tournament rely on their ability as good strategists and use their best power of concentration.

NATURALIST CLUB

The Naturalist Club is open to anyone interested in the sciences. During the year university professors spoke on topics beyond the realm of those topics usually covered in the classroom. Dr. Brian of Wesleyan University spoke on Anthropology. The club held an annual picnic and visited Argonne Laboratories.

PACESETTERS

The Pacesetters came into existence last year and since then have become a very active volunteer service sorority. They sponsored a soap drive for the soldiers in Viet Nam, a clothing drive for unfortunate families in South Carolina, and a benefit fashion show. They were also "Pals" for underprivileged children.

PACESETTERS Cynthia Hawkins, treasurer; Shorone Butler, secretary; Pauline Drowver, adviser; Bernice Nonce, president; Delores Hardy, vice-president.

PEM CLUB

Providing social, intellectual, and professional activities for members are purposes of the Women's Physical Education Club. This year the group held a hootenanny, a departmental stunt show, a day for high school students, a panel discussion, intercollegiate competition, and lectures on the physiology of exercise.

PHI BETA LAMBDA

Phi Beta Lambda participated in many activities of the state professional business fraternity, including hosting a workshop for northern area schools. A computer dance, tours of various business establishments, and a panel discussion by students who had just returned from student teaching were also held this year.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

A mock Republican Convention involving schools in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Iowa was the year's major event for members of the Social Science Club. In addition, State Representative Edward Madigan spoke on the issues before the Illinois General Assembly and Dr. Benjamin Keeley lectured on the riot situation.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB Front to Back: Connie Plunkett, secretary; George Sargent, vice-president; Chuck Irwin, John Freese, president; Thomas Wilson, adviser.

SHUFFLIN' SHOES

As one of the largest student organizations on campus, Shufflin' Shoes provided dance education and entertainment for dance students and anyone else interested in furthering their dancing abilities. The organization held meetings and dances every Wednesday at which the members had a chance to improve their square dancing.

SHUFFLIN' SHOES Front to Back: David Dawson, president; Eileen Windhauser, vice-president; Jeanne Patterson, treasurer; Linda Johnson, secretary.

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLUB Nancy Ebner, Wilma Goodman, Barbara White, Betty Pollock, president; Charles Howard, adviser; Kathi Einoris, secretary; Alonza Hanneford, adviser; Cynthia Cooper, treasurer.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION Cheryl Bond, secretary; Devra Strickler, assistant secretary; Cannie Newton, vice-president; Dan Burnett, Dr. Leonard Brubaker, adviser; Dr. William Zeller, adviser; Margo Brandon, associate vice-president; Karen Greene, treasurer; Bonnie Broom, assistant treasurer; Diane Croak, president.

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLUB

The projects of the Special Ed Club involved helping the handicapped. Members counceled retarded children of the YMCA and helped them in arts, crafts, and sports. At Christmas the club repaired toys for culturally deprived children. Members also attended conventions of the Council for Exceptional Children.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Promoting further interest in the teaching field was the main objective of the SEA this year. Through informative talks of noted speakers, the members of this organization became better acquainted with teaching in small towns and large cities, both in the United States and in other countries.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The basic purpose of SDS is expressed in their name. Several speakers from CADRE (Chicago Area Draft Resisters) highlighted the year. White arm bands for war protest were often worn by members, and the organization supported the open occupancy marches in Normal.

STUDENT PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

The main objective of the Student Psychological Association was to encourage exploration in experimental and educational psychology. They invited noted speakers to lecture on these different fields. A trip was sponsored by the organization to visit the research hospital in Galesburg.

VETERANS CLUB

The main objective of the Veterans Club is to orient veterans who have reached the age of twenty-one in areas of curriculum, housing, and financial opportunities during their college careers. The social fraternity's main project this year was to increase facilities for the handicapped in the central Illinois area.

As ISU grows and expands academically, it has continued its construction and building. The new annex to Hovey Hall is only one of the many new structures being raised on campus this year.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

Women's Recreation Association sponsored many activities such as ski trips, camping trips, intramurals and extramurals, in which ISU competed against other Illinois universities. Its fencing team ranked second in the Midwest and its basketball team has had only three losses in the past six years.

Students in art courses freshen their memory by reviewing slides before an exam.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The Young Democrats work to promote political interest on campus. Several speakers from the political world, including two U.S. Congressmen, were a part of this year's activities in order that university students might become better prepared for upcoming elections. The club also worked with local Democratic groups.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Young Republicans endeavor to stimulate interest in politics and in the Republican party. This year the club co-sponsored a mock convention with the Political Science Club. Members of the club did precinct work in the Bloomington-Normal area in preparation for the Illinois primaries and major election.

After four hours of deliberation over teacher evaluation, the Senate decides to adjourn the meeting.

STUDENT SENATE

A stress on activity and student interest was the major concern of the Student Senate this year. The Senate has become more aware of student interest in the campus governing body and has made several successful attempts to satisfy this interest. The Senate is the official agent to listen to what the students want, and the students' opinions were often discovered through surveys on women's hours, open occupancy, and teacher evaluation. A Student Senate newsletter concerning such topics as administrative policy helped to break a communication barrier with the students. A Senate Service Corps was planned in which the students could get involved in forming a cabinet on the executive level with themselves performing the tasks of the administration.

The creation of any yearbook is a tremendous job, involving many people who put in countless hours of work. The 1968 Index is no exception. The making of this year's Index began last spring when the new editor was chosen. During the summer she formulated some ideas for the yearbook, and in the fall she met with her staff of editors to begin working out these ideas. The editors then met with their own staffs, made initial assignments, and all the wheels started turning. From that time until the completed book was presented to the students, the work did not stop. The layout staff arranged the pictures and copy on each page, while the photographers and literary staff worked together in creating a word and picture story of student and faculty life at ISU.

"Student power," a popular expression across the country's campuses, played an important role at Illinois State this year. The Vidette led this movement by showing that they were no longer strictly a newspaper, but an opinion paper. One of its functions was to encourage student participation in the forming of university regulations as well as in social activities. Editorials reflected the Vidette's support of subjects as the abolition of women's hours, open housing in Normal, and teacher evaluation by students. The large staff, while not necessarily advocating these issues, worked to make a better newspaper. During a typically busy day, reporters and photographers clamored for assignments as the page editors pasted up the stories. And above the roar of voices the adviser yelled, "Let's throw this thing together!"

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

New was the word to which AWS activities were geared this year. A new name, a new constitution, new sponsors, and a new office helped to give the organization a different direction, a larger perspective, and greater variety. AWS, which formerly stood for Association of Women Students, became Associated Women Students. The AWS activities centered around educational, cultural, and social programs. A symposium on sex and morality, SEXPO '68, was held for ten days. Women's Week, which centered around careers and society, included a day in which the women went MAD. This was Male Appreciation Day. AWS helped sponsor the DeYoung Lecture Series which brought to campus scholars who are well known in their fields.

UNIVERSITY MEN'S CLUB

Furthering the recreational and cultural needs of men on campus was the objective of University Men's Club. The club awarded eight one hundred dollar scholarships to men doing student teaching. It also sponsored Dad's Day and Mother's Day activities in conjunction with AWS. During the spring, the men offered students a chance to relieve pent up emotions at a "car crash".

CO-OP COUNCIL

Unifying the eight co-op houses represented by two members each is the function of the co-op council. In its second year on campus the council reorganized and formulated plans for a Co-op Week to be held in the fall. Two new co-ops, Pi Beta for women and Sigma Tau Epsilon for men, joined the council in 1967-68. The other co-ops for men are Chesne' Dom, El Adel, Al Azar, and La Vista. For women there are Lambda Rho, Alpha Lambda Kappa, and Mai Kai.

INTER-HALL COUNCIL

Acting as a catalyst to provide coordination and communication among the residence halls, the Inter-Hall Council kept lists of bands and speakers available for utilization by the dorms. The council sponsored Spring Fling Weekend, a leadership conference, and the annual honors recognition dinner.

INTER-HALL COUNCIL Front: Judy Baker, treasurer; Dale Barz, vice-president; Helen Moser, secretary. Back: Jim Meaker, president.

WOC

Women Off-Campus are informed about campus activities through meetings of WOC. This year, members sponsored a Roaring Twenties dance, a Christmas Formal, a Mothers' Day Tea, and visited an orphanage on Easter. Demonstrations on cake decorating, current fashions, and judo appeared on the WOC meeting agenda.

The "no place to go" complaint made so often by students seeking entertainment would have been heard more frequently on the ISU campus this year if the members of the University Union Board had not provided many of its student-oriented activities. From the Homecoming Bonfire Bounce to the Sweetheart Ball in February, the eleven member student board, with the advice of University Union Director Bruce Kaiser, helped create student spirit and added to that collection of "things to remember" about ISU in 1967-68. The Board highlighted those dreary days of December by again sponsoring the annual billiards tournament and initiating the Christmas season with the Tree Lighting Ceremony. The Board gave the snow bound student a night out at the Union all-night party. A number of Fireside Chats brought lecturers to informal meetings with the students.

WGLT

Communications Control

Through the control room window, two workers watch a panel discussion being broadcast.

WGLT, the ISU radio station, added many new features to its broadcasting program. The station broadcasts on both AM and FM and is affiliated with the National Radio Network. The number of news casts was increased and sports coverage was also expanded. The home football, basketball, and baseball games, as well as many of the away games, were broadcast. The many regular features of the station included "The Student Senate Report" and "BBC World Report." Two new shows produced by WGLT were "Political Spotlight" with Dr. Harvey Zeidenstein as commentator and "Let's Be Creative," a children's program. As a special event during the second semester, WGLT sponsored a "Name the Mouse" contest to name the staff's mascot, a mouse living in the studios.

BAHA'I GROUP

With meetings in the form of "fireside" conversations, informal open houses, parties, and monthly public programs, the Baha'i Group acquainted others with the faith. The discussions were informative or adapted to the participators. Founded by Baha'u'llah in 1844, the Baha'i beliefs are based on the idea of unity.

APOSTOLIC CHRISTIAN BIBLE CLASS

The Apostolic Christian Bible Class met each week to provide fellowship for students of similar religious training. During the year the Bible Class visited various Apostolic Christian churches, went Christmas caroling, and sang in several programs. At many of the weekly meetings guest ministers spoke to the group.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

This year members of Baptist Student Union attended the state convention at Southern Illinois University in November and the spring Missions Conference at Louisville, Kentucky. At these conventions, members were able to meet with Baptist students of other universities. The theme this year was Religion and the Campus.

B'NAI B'RITH HILLEL

B'nai B'rith Hillel serves the Jewish students on campus by providing cultural, religious, and social activities. This year B'nai B'rith Hillel was very successful in bringing notable speakers to ISU. The members of the group also observed the traditional holidays with other Jewish people in the community.

CAMPUS CRUSADERS

Seeking to make the church relevant in university life, Campus Crusaders held non-denominational meetings, services, and programs with speakers and films. The Crusaders traveled around the area soliciting churches for support to sponsor David Lang as their first campus minister and to acquire a permanent meeting house.

CANTERBURY CLUB

Providing a "home away from home" for the one hundred and seventy-five Episcopal students on campus, the Episcopal Student Organization maintained their "Canterbury House" near campus. Students used the study room and enjoyed informal discussions in the den. There was a daily service in the chapel.

CANTERBURY CLUB C. H. Meecham, Chaplain; Bill Cummings, vice-president; Mark Johnson, president; Virginia Carr, secretary; Barbara Stein, treasurer.

CHI ALPHA

As part of the fulfillment of their four purposes of fellowship, worship, evangelism, and service to the campus community, Chi Alpha sponsored the film "Worlds Apart" which dealt with the problem of mixed marriage. The group, associated with the Assemblies of God and Pentacostal Churches, hosted several speakers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

To make the ISU student body aware of their doctrine is the basic goal of the Christian Science Organization. Awareness, the key, was gained by lectures provided by the Board of Lectureship on "The New Morality". Talk-outs with other on-campus religious organizations brought insight into dark discrepancies.

EUB FELLOWSHIP Front Row: Carol Poplett, Sandy Ainsworth. Back Row: Violo Honer, Carol Grimes, Lois Jett, adviser; Sandy Hoeinghaus, Lauretta Greenway.

EUB FELLOWSHIP

Pursuing their goals of winning students to Christ, showing the relationship of faith to the professions, and strengthening their faith, the Fellowship presented many interesting activities. In addition to their regular Sunday night meeting, the group enjoyed a hayride, a Christmas program, and a sleigh ride.

This international Lutheran group sponsored Advent and Lenten services. Proceeds from these services were set aside for a planned campus youth center. Highlight of the year was a Reformation Program featuring Bishop Lilje from Germany. Bible discussion groups and Christmas caroling rounded out the year.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Making known Jesus Christ and his relevance to students typified the activities of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. Aside from daily prayer meetings and bi-weekly meetings, IVCF members joined with several thousand students for the Urbana Missionary Convention held during Christmas vacation at the U of I.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman club members centered their greatest efforts this year in organizing the activities for their new center completed last fall. In the spring, interchange discussions with the University of Illinois were held. Co-ecumenical movements with the other sects on campus were started.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

Carrying out the theme of "What Is Man," the Wesley Foundation heard Dr. R. Doud speak on man from a biological point of view. Members participated in Sunday evening dinners and informal student "bull sessions" where current problems were discussed in an attempt to find where man stands in today's world.

HONOR RESIDENTS

Assistance to Underclassmen

The honor residents this year celebrated the fiftieth year of the program's existence. To celebrate this event campus wide, they entered a float in the Homecoming parade. In their respective halls they performed skits for hall parties and went "pumpkin caroling," an annual event during Halloween at which each girl carries a lit candle in a parade around the campus. In the spring of the year a retreat was held for all old and new honor residents at which time they discussed their functions and responsibilities. Honor residents live in freshman and sophomore residence halls where they serve as a link between the students and the administration. They are almost always available to listen to the residents' problems and spend many hours just chatting with the girls. Honor residents have the further responsibility of helping residents adjust to college life and to make the transition from high school student to college student.

ALPHA BETA ALPHA

The national headquarters for Alpha Beta Alpha, the honorary library science fraternity, is located here at Illinois State University. In addition to hosting the national convention, the local chapter sponsored a Homecoming tea for alumni, a Founder's Day dinner at the Sinorak, and various speakers for club meetings.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

Alpha Lambda Delta is the honorary scholastic sorority for freshmen women. Their goal is to promote intellectual living and a high standard of learning while encouraging superior scholastic attainment among freshmen women. At bi-monthly meetings honorary members spoke on topics of their choice.

ALPHA BETA ALPHA Barbara Keschel, Judy Reinacher, secretary-treasurer; Eunice Speer, adviser; Donna Wrench, president; Christine Ilgaudas, vice-president.

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

Sponsoring an invitational live-stock judging contest for area high schools was one of the main projects of Alpha Tau Alpha, the national agricultural fraternity. The purpose of the ISU chapter is to foster a better vocational-agricultural program. A spring horseshow was the main annual event.

DELTA OMICRON

The main purpose of Delta Omicron, the international women's music fraternity, is to inspire friendship among women music students and to stimulate greater growth in the performance and appreciation of good music. To fulfill this goal the organization presented a monthly closed recital and two open musicals.

DELTA PHI ALPHA

Delta Phi Alpha, the national German honorary fraternity, strives to promote interest in the German language, people, and culture on campus. In November the organization sponsored the film "Aren't We Wonderful", a satire on German history. Lectures on Franz Kafka and Icelandic sagas were sponsored.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON

Gamma Theta Upsilon, the geography honorary, strives to further professional interests in geography by affording an organization for any interested student. Meetings this year focused on a geography forum with professors from the Illinois State staff presenting programs on various forms of vocational geography.

DELTA PHI ALPHA Sue Martin, secretary-treasurer; Harry Sievel, vice-president; Fred Fachet, president; Martin Gilde, adviser.

ETA SIGMA PHI Connie Wallenburg, treasurer; Catherine Graesch, secretary; Beverly Barke, president; Pat Daly, vice-president; Tom Bowling.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi is an undergraduate honorary which is oriented towards the study of the Greek and Latin classics. Members of the honorary are dedicated towards furthering appreciation of the Greek and Roman cultures. This year the honorary sold candy and entered a float in the Homecoming parade.

IOTA LAMBDA SIGMA

Iota Lambda Sigma, the national honorary Industrial Arts fraternity, was formed with the purpose of promoting professionalism in this field. Highlights of the year included a talk by the president of the Industrial Arts Association, Dr. Ralph Bohn, and a panel discussion on qualifications of Industrial Arts teachers.

KAPPA MU EPSILON

One of the largest honoraries on campus is Kappa Mu Epsilon, the national mathematics honorary society. The organization advises math students and provides math activities outside of the classroom. This year the members held a sale of mathematics books, and alumni were invited to a breakfast during Homecoming week.

At Student Speak Outs the student body and senate voiced their opinions, pro and con, on the abolishment of women's hours.

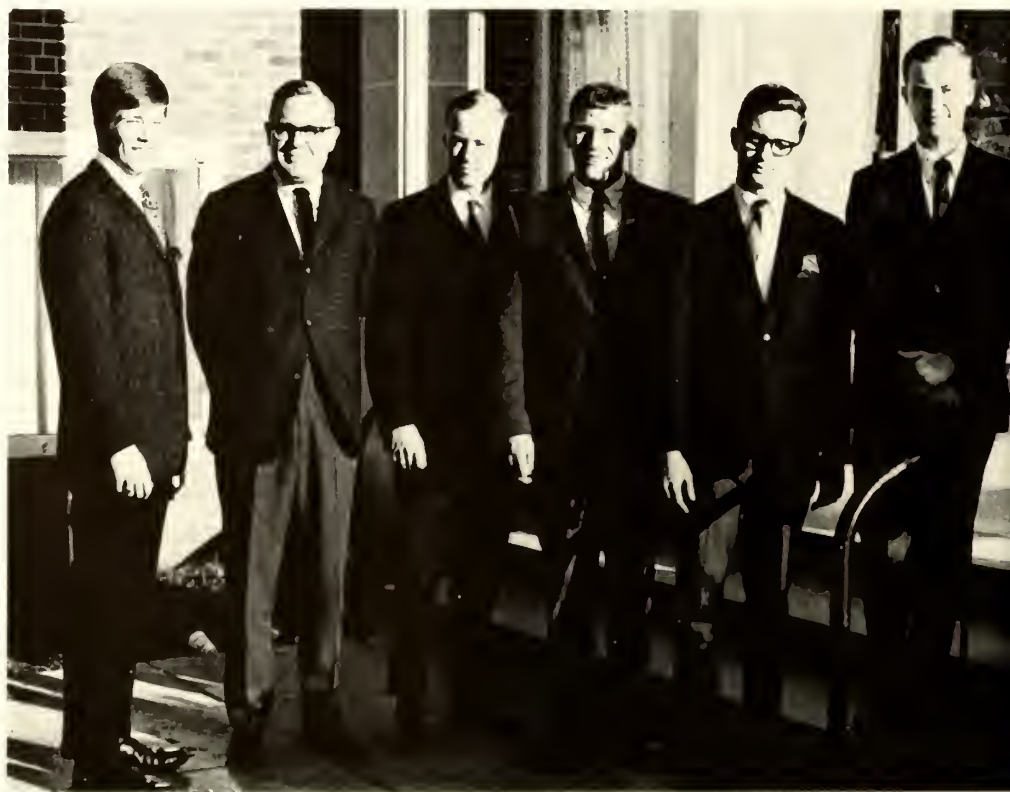

KAPPA OMICRON PHI Paula Mehl, second vice-president; Laurey Sievers, secretary; Ellen Kurtenback, president; Mary Green, first vice-president; Jan Billerman, treasurer.

KAPPA OMICRON PHI

This spring, for the first time, Kappa Omicron Phi sponsored a senior banquet for members and guests. Two members of the home economics honorary attended the national conclave held in Washington, D.C. last summer. Planned speakers this year included a representative from the county welfare department.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa is the national honorary scholarship and leadership organization for men. Two speakers, Dr. Robert Singer and Mr. Henry Johnson, talked to the club on the role of the student leader at ISU as the school grows and changes. Again this year, a senior Man of the Year award was given.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA Ralland Axelsan, president; Robert Rumery, adviser; Larry Matejka, adviser; Dan Theesfeld, treasurer; Dale Perano, secretary; Jim Trudeau, vice-president.

Dr. John Hope Franklin of the University of Chicago spoke on revolutions in current society at a Larsen Lecture Series.

PHI ALPHA THETA

Both students and professors are elected to Phi Alpha Theta on the basis of excellence in the field of history. As a professional organization, its goals are to promote the study of history through research and good teaching. Graduate scholarships and an annual award provided recognition for outstanding work.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Members of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary fraternity, had their own tutorial project for helping students with general education courses. They also conducted two book sales, joined in a picnic with Alpha Lambda Delta, and held a spring initiation banquet. The year's outstanding member was awarded a trophy.

PI DELTA PHI

Pi Delta Phi is the national French honorary society. At a banquet held in the spring Mr. Rene Allewaert, French cultural attache for the mid-western states, spoke to the members. The national office of Pi Delta Phi worked with TWA to set up a flight to Paris at a reduced rate for members of the society.

PI GAMMA MU Mike Nave, treasurer; Jim Rosenberg, president; Dan Koesler, vice-president.

PI GAMMA MU

Pi Gamma Mu gives recognition to students of academic ability in social science. The two-fold purpose of the club is to promote the social sciences at ISU and to broaden the outlooks of those students in social science. The honorary held monthly meetings at which speakers discussed different aspects of the field.

PI KAPPA DELTA

Pi Kappa Delta members spent a very busy year with debates in many parts of the nation. During two weekends its members traveled to Kansas City, Kansas and Atlanta, Georgia for debates. The speech honorary society held meetings with guest speakers to provide information for speech majors and minors.

PI KAPPA DELTA John Boaz, adviser; Helen Menet, president; Pat Czekala, vice-president; Karen King, secretary.

PI OMEGA PI

Pi Omega Pi members experienced quite an interesting year of special meetings with distinguished visitors and competition with other chapters. ILLINOIS STATE'S BELLES

Misses Carolyn Louing and Janni Harris

Miss Dorothy Sain

Miss Jackie Johnson

Miss Illinois State 1967 did not know that her friends had taken out a Homecoming Queen petition for her until it was time for the official screening of all the candidates. After the initial eliminations, Miss Marilyn Smith, a twenty year old junior from Canton, was among the semi-finalists. Then the student body voted for the five finalists, and Marilyn found that she had survived the final eliminations. When she was introduced at the dance as Illinois State's 1967 Homecoming Queen, she accepted the traditional rose with tears in her eyes. The four young ladies enhancing Queen Marilyn's court were Janni Harris of Peoria, Jackie Johnson of Ashkum, Carolyn Louing of Naperville, and Dorothy Sain of Decatur. It was a very busy week for all of the girls. Marilyn took time off from her job in Vrooman Center to attend the many dinners and other functions held in her honor. These included a special VIP breakfast attended by President Braden, Dean Band, and Dr. Fisher. The girls painted cut-outs of American folklore characters for the dance, and they polished the fire engine until it shone. The stands at Hancock Field were packed to overflowing as ISU students, faculty, administration, and alumni turned out in full force to cheer the Redbirds in a tough battle against the Chippewas from Central Michigan University. Before the game began, the Queen, her court, and their escorts were introduced to the crowd. As each girl was introduced, she managed to walk gracefully across the muddy field with her I Club escort. Queen Marilyn addressed the crowd, welcoming everyone and expressing her delight in representing ISU during the coming year.

American Folklore Comes to Life

Many of the spectators who lined the streets to watch the 1967 Homecoming parade were not really sure which way it would come down that street at all. But the change in the route did not affect the excitement of the parade. President and Mrs. Braden led the long parade of floats and bands. The Industrial Arts Club took first place honors in the float entry with their "Keel 'Em Over." The float depicted Mike Fink and his old river boat. The Honor Residents entered a float in the parade in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the Honor Resident program. One of the prettiest floats in the parade was the queen's float, traditionally designed and constructed by the sophomore class. This year's queen's float was entitled "I State's Belles," in keeping with the American Folklore theme. To add even more competition and school spirit to the week of activities, this year's Homecoming included a Pushmobile Derby. Preliminary races were held to eliminate all but the four fastest of the on and off-campus teams that entered the contest with their cars. Two on-campus and two off-campus cars were chosen, and the winners rode at the end of the parade.

Sights and Sounds

The theme of ISU's forty-seventh annual Homecoming was "American Folklore." All but one of the residence halls and many of the off-campus houses joined in the vigorous competition for the house decs awards. The judges evaluated the various displays on Friday evening, and the winners were announced later on that night. The first place trophy in dorm decoration competition went to Walker Hall again this year. Walker's display, entitled "Thundering Birds Down the Chips," featured a huge smoking Redbird with flapping wings, who brought down his wrath upon the Chippewas. El-Adel-Co-op took first place in the off-campus division. The ISU marching band, as usual, was excellent this year. After marching in the parade, the band entertained at the game. The many long, hard hours of practice and drill were quite apparent when the band marched onto the field at half-time. Together with the Redbird Rooters card section and the precision Coryphees, the ISU marching band made a spectacular show for the crowd. These groups and the cheerleaders all helped make the 1967 Homecoming game an exciting event for all who attended. This year's Homecoming play was "Juno and the Paycock," by Sean O'Casey. The play, which was an excellent production, was performed on six different nights. All of the many regular events of Homecoming were exciting. But there was extra excitement this year when Hewett Hall's dorm decorations burned down, causing some damage to a number of rooms in the building. The blaze, which occurred early Saturday morning, resulted in minor injury to two Hewett residents. All sixteen floors of women residents were evacuated within four minutes after the general alarm was sounded. The men of Manchester were of great assistance in helping the Hewett residents. Thus, the sights and sounds were memorable.

CHRISTMAS

No matter what the taste of the individual, there was a sound of Christmas to interest him. From one corner of campus to the opposite one there were activities with the spirit of Christmas at their core. The first sound drifted from the University Union where the annual Madrigal dinners offered a view of Christmases past in merry old England. From the opposite direction came the voices of the University Concert Choir raised in Handel's "Messiah." In the laboratory schools the true lovers of Christmas, the children, were bubbling with the promise of parties, gifts, and Santa Claus while they sang gay Christmas carols. All women's residence halls were a-twinkle with snowflakes, trees, colored lights, girls in formal dresses, garlands of flowers, and the anticipation of an "Enchanted Evening." Romantic melodies floated in the air around these halls. From these moody sounds of the Christmas formals to the gay carols of the children's parties, the music of Christmas filled the air and hearts of all Illinois State.

BIG FOUR

Bringing Big Name Bands

The Big Four Committee, a self-sufficient organization comprised of ISU students, is responsible for bringing entertainment to ISU in the form of big name bands. The committee sells tickets for all of these concerts in the fall of the year. Members of the Big Four are chosen after the submission of applications to faculty advisors and executive committees. This year's series of entertainment featured three dances and a Special. In October, Ralph Marterie and his orchestra performed. He was followed by Paul Neighbors in November. A special program in March featured The Associations, and the year's activities were ended by a Chicago Band's concert in April.

The tempo of a university is reflected through many aspects; one of these is music. The various choirs and bands of ISU presented many concerts throughout the year for the enjoyment of the students and faculty, and the community as well. The music of these organizations acted as a universal language to bring pleasure to both the performers and their audiences. Music was heard in all areas of campus life all during the school year, from the Homecoming parade to the Twelfth Annual Madrigal Dinner-Concert celebrating the Christmas season. Bringing the spirit of Christmas to ISU in the Old English tradition, the Madrigal singers presented a memorable evening of entertainment that all who attended will not soon forget. The many concerts performed by the other music organizations at ISU provided a variety of musical entertainment. The audiences at these concerts appreciated the beauty and the art of the music. On the ISU campus, there were many evidences that music is a vital part of our everyday lives.

Queen Agravaire tries to find Prince Dauntless the Drab a real princess in "Once Upon a Mattress."

The Lowell Mason MENC Club, Music Education National Convention, is an organization on campus to provide opportunity and experience that will help its members in teaching music in class and in other activities. The organization is comprised of music majors, minors, or resources and is strictly self-supporting. Members went caroling at Christmastime and held a dance and a candy sale to raise money. The highlight of the year for the club was its own student directed and acted musical, "Once Upon a Mattress." The hilarious comedy starred Diane Velon and was a smashing success in each of its four night runs.

Opportunities for Actors

Although Jesters is considered a service organization, it exists for members of University Theater in their positions as actors and as technicians. In campus activities such as the organization Round-Up at Horton Fieldhouse and the annual AWS Carnival, the Jesters livened up the atmosphere by appearing as clowns and oversized animals. In the Homecoming parade, they won first place in walking entries for the second year in a row, and at Christmas, some visited campus food centers as Santo Claus.

UNIVERSITY THEATER

Dramatic Arts

Aside from the many productions the University Theater presented on campus, the organization established a new theater and brought much recognition to ISU. The Repertory Theater was established and was given nation-wide claim. Besides being the first traveling troupe of its kind, it was granted a one hundred thousand dollar federal grant, the largest sum ever granted to a theater organization. The group toured many times during the year presenting such plays as "Land of the Dragon", "Macbeth", "The Three Sillies", and "The Chain." The theater on campus kept quite active, and in the spring it presented "Renegade and Retrospect" which was supervised by the author of the play, Frank Parman.

The Entertainment Board brought to campus well-known plays, movies, and concerts for the enjoyment of the ISU community. Following a Pops Concert in October were "Roar of the Greasepaint," a Broadway musical, "Hello, Dolly," a Broadway musical starring Dorothy Lamour, and Ferrante and Teicher, renowned duopianists. In March, "Phedre," the French tragedy by Racine, was presented by the American Theaters' Productions, Inc. Marcel Marceau, world-famous French pantomimist, entertained with his silent interpretations of different aspects of life. "The Impossible Years," a Broadway comedy, and Los Tabajaras, Brazilian guitarists, followed. Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians performed "The Next Fifty Years," a presentation of Waring's conception of the music of the future.

The Theta Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the National Service Fraternity, performs services to its chapter, campus, community, and country, in the form of fund-raising activities, volunteer work, and group organization. One of the largest fund-raising organizations on campus is the annual APO Review, this year entitled "X-Caliber", the proceeds of which were given to the Crippled Children's Camp at Lake Bloomington. APO also sponsored a dance to raise funds to purchase scout equipment for Boy Scout troops at Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's School. Throughout the year, APO members volunteered to serve as scout masters and scout advisers for troops in the community. During Homecoming each year, the APO clowns highlight the parade by providing delightful entertainment and safety measures for the spectators.

APO initiation takes place at the beginning of each year.

The purpose of the AWS carnival held each year in the spring is to unite the various organizations on campus to work together. This year, thirty clubs and organizations maintained a booth. Booths ranged from game booths to a Spot Prize booth where a lucky person could win a prize donated by one of the Bloomington-Normal merchants. This is still another attempt to further the relations between the community and campus. A favorite among the students at the carnival was the Western jail where you could pay to have someone put in jail. Entertainment in the form of a stunt show was presented by Gamma Phi. The money went to a charity in the area chosen by the participating clubs. Due to lack of space, the Carnival was open only to ISU students and those participating merchants.

The clown's trick is to stay on the ball as it rolls down the plank.

The 1967 Gamma Phi Circus was a blend of the traditional and the new. The evening began with the traditional circus sights, sounds, and smells filling Horton Field House as red and white faced clowns sold popcorn and balloons and kept children laughing with tricks and somersaults. Forty-seven members of Gamma Phi composed the circus troupe. Each performance was introduced by ringmaster Bob Lindsey. Aside from the traditional acts, many new features were presented this year. These included a tight wire act, a ladder act, and a duet balancing act. Also, there were performances involving balance and timing, a perch pole act in which performers balanced on tops of poles, a Polynesian bamboo pole dance, and an Indian fire dance done with flaming hoops. Queen Virginia Shaner and her court consisting of Liz Edwards, Pat Thomas, Rita McReynolds, Carol Bronoski, and Anita Gibb were presented at the onset of the evening festivities. Miss Shaner was crowned by the president of Gamma Phi, Willy Vrba. Gamma Phi was started in 1928 when Dr. C. E. Horton, who was head of the department of men's physical education, began a men's group which presented formal gymnastic routines. This group eventually became circus performers with the help of some circus families living in Bloomington-Normal. Women were admitted to the group in 1941, and today this honorary gymnastics fraternity of ISU stages a circus on campus every spring.

Orchesis, the modern dance club open to all students on campus, had about fifty members this year. They concentrated on various forms of modern dance, with occasional explorations into jazz and ethnic dancing. Two events highlighted the year. These were tours to Joliet, El Paso, Elgin, and Bloomington Junior High in December and the Spring Concert. The tours benefited both the high schools and the performers. The concert, held March seventh, eighth, and ninth, presented a varied program of dances following abstract, primitive, and social themes. Dance interludes, short and sometimes incomplete, and dance experiments were introduced into the program as was a technique demonstration involving the members.

To become a member of Varunas, women swimmers must demonstrate ability in basic swimming strokes and basic aquatic art figures that display body control. Varunas emphasizes swimming as an art form as well as a sport. This year's annual Varuna Swim Show was entitled "Wet and Wild." Seventeen Varuna members and four men guest swimmers participated in the show. In one of the numbers, entitled "Serpentine," eight girls performed in a line to create a "snakey" mood. Two solo numbers were entitled "Liberated" and "Frolic." Another interesting number was a water adaptation of a square dance. The finale, which featured all of the swimmers, was "Candleglow."

CHEERLEADERS

Seven Varsity and five Freshman cheerleaders cheered our football and basketball teams on to many victories this year. They persevered through all kinds of weather to support school spirit. This year for the first time they were able to attend all away football games. The cheerleaders took part in the Homecoming festivities, President Braden's inauguration, and the AWS Carnival, besides helping at the Cheerleading Clinic, judging grade school cheerleading at a tournament, and leading the march to the Wesleyan game. They threw out miniature footballs at games and assisted in the distribution of tiny basketballs.

Rooters Reinforce Redbird Power

ISU "Bird Power" buttons were sold by the Redbird Rooters this year to help promote school spirit. The 1200 members of the organization pursued other projects, also aimed towards this goal, such as sponsoring bus trips to away football games. Their major activity was forming the card section at all home football games. Ushers and row chairmen played important roles in the successful presentations of different colored cards depicting various themes. Even in the rain these students performed, helping to unify the student body as a team organization and cheering the Redbirds on to victory. The Redbird Rooters also sponsored an election for the Bell Ringer and were in charge of the Bone Victory Bell. The Bell was rung after every touchdown and was pulled in the Homecoming parade. It also led the march through Normal and Bloomington to the Illinois Wesleyan game. The night before this game, the Redbird Rooters held a dance and a pep rally. Always eager to help the student body, the group issued desk blotters at the beginning of the second semester, a project they financed by selling advertisements.

INTRAMURALS

Activity For ALL

One of the various activities of the university is to help develop the total student. The intramural program under the direction of Dr. Hill and assisted by Mr. Fred is an important aspect of campus life for the many male students who do not make the varsity or freshman teams. There are also activities for those who just want to get out of the dorm or rooming house for some head-to-head competition with their fellow students. The sports included in the competition range from flag football in the fall to basketball and volleyball in the winter to softball in the spring. These activities are supplemented by individual competition in tennis, badminton and swimming. The men are not the only ones to benefit from the intramural program. Activities paralleling those of the boys are held for the girls. In addition, field hockey and golf are added to the women's program. It is easy to see why the ISU student body remains in such fine shape with a program such as this.

A winning attitude developed late in the previous season blossomed into the finest Redbird team in 60 years. The eight victories against two losses this season tied the record for the most victories in a season. Coach Bitcon, after two disastrous seasons, formed a team of outstanding seniors blended with youthful, but big and strong underclassmen. I-State followers received an indication of things to come in the opening game against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee when the Redbirds scored a 21-0 victory. A strong offense and defense were show-cased in this game played in the rain, which did little to hamper the Redbirds. In the second game of the year, the Wesleyan Titans provided the cannon fodder for the explosive Big Red attack. Scoring on three long plays I-State bombed our cross-town rivals 27-7. Again both the offense and defense put on a tremendous display not allowing the Titans to score until the final quarter. Against the Circle Campus of the University of Illinois, the Redbirds suffered a let-down and just escaped with a 16-14 record thanks to a blocked punt. With the offense unable to get untracked, the game was won on defensive strength. Going after their fourth straight victory the Redbirds demolished a strong Central Missouri State team 27-0. Again as in previous games, it was the rock-ribbed defense and powerful offense that proved too much for the under-manned visiting team. Opening up conference play, the Redbirds crushed Eastern Illinois 28-6 for Coach Bitcon's first IIAC victory in three years. Again the Big Red were a complete team. In the second conference game of the year the Birds broke a 20 year jinx by defeating Western Illinois at Macomb. Homecoming was an especially big weekend for the I-State football team. A victory in the big game would assure this fine team of a much desired conference crown. Central Michigan provided the competition and they provided a bit too much as they tipped the Battling Birds 19-14 and dimmed the hopes for a conference crown for the Redbirds. The Birds did gain a share of the crown though, as Western Illinois upset Central Michigan. Following their first loss of the season the Redbirds demolished Winona State 41-7 and Mankato State 30-14. The final game of a fine season ended in disaster as Bradley defeated the Birds 14-0. With a possible bowl bid in the offing, the Big Red were unable to do anything right as they had two touchdowns called back. The Redbirds were led to this fine season by Most Valuable Player Mike Phillips and leading scorer Jerry Kinnikin on offense and IIAC Most Valuable player Steve Bjornstad on defense. From the looks of this season, it seems that football fortune has returned to ISU.

The main idea of the freshman football team is to become adjusted to the style of football played at I-State and also to adjust to the rigors of college football in general. It is the job of Coach O'Neill and his staff to bring the squad up to the level of varsity competition. After only a few days of practice, the Baby Birds opened their season. As is common in opening games, fumbles and interceptions held back the team. In their first game of the season, a controlled scrimmage against the Wesleyan yearlings, they lost 7-0. Fifteen turnovers against Joliet JC sent the Birds down to a 24-0 defeat. The Wilson JC eleven also defeated the Baby Birds 38-0 before they began to take shape as a football team. At Western Illinois, a missed extra point meant defeat by a score of 7-6. Against DuPage Valley the Birds were in command until the final quarter as they suffered a 20-19 defeat. In the final game of the year, the Little Red lost to Eastern Illinois's yearling squad in the last 12 seconds of the game on a long pass 13-6. After a slow start this young team progressed rapidly so that all that stood between them and a respectable season were nine points. The boys worked hard and long. Several of them stood out as young men to watch in the coming years. Among those singled out by the coach as being of possible aid to the varsity next year are Skip Jones a fullback, Jim Conrad a tackle, Steve Johnson a guard, Bob Swords a linebacker, Rich Roberts an end and Rich Robley a quarterback. If all of these boys continue to show improvement as they have this year, Coach Bitcon can look forward to many good seasons. The aggressiveness and spirit displayed by this squad surely mark many of these boys for future varsity competition.

CROSS COUNTRY

Harriers Endure Losing Season

Coach Rager Weller, Mike Mooberry, Tony Edgcomb, Earl Kyle, Larry Sayles, Bud Pulaski.

With only two returning lettermen, the Redbird Cross Country team was seriously lacking in experience. 1966 had produced three lettermen and now only two of these, Bruce Hansen and Bud Pulaski, returned. Coach Weller predicted that this team is "a year away from real respectability" and it was as the team finished the season with an 0-6 record in dual and triangular meets. The season started with the Redbirds taking second at the Hokum Karen Relays. This had indications for the Redbirds that things had changed from previous years—maybe ISU had a winner. But it was not to be this year. Every thing was down hill after the inaugural meet. The Redbirds met defeat after defeat in dual meets. From out of the gloom of a losing season came a bright light in the form of sophomore Tony Edgcomb. In the series of dual and triangular meets, Tony, selected as the Most Valuable Player, finished no worse than fourth. In the larger meets, due to the inexperience of sophomores Edgcomb, Mike Mooberry and Larry Sayles, the Redbirds placed well back in the field. The scores of the dual meets are respectable due to the fact that juniors Earl Kyle, Pulaski and Hansen were able to place high, but not high enough to enable the Redbirds to be victorious. In the large meets it was disappointing. The State Intercollegiate Meet found the 'Birds finishing tenth of twelve teams. In the conference meet, ISU placed fourth. The record though is not indicative of the effort put forth by the team as they gained experience.

SWIMMING

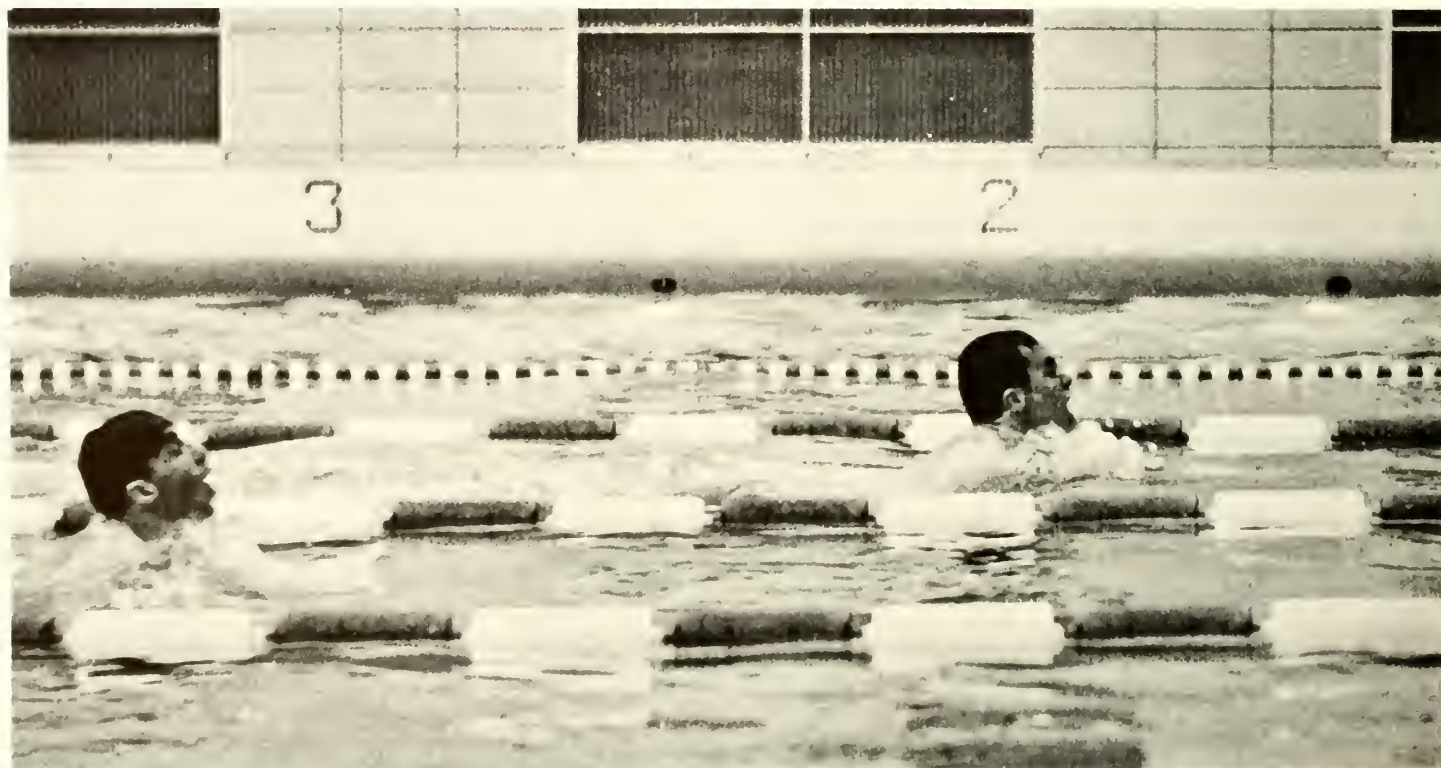

High Hopes Developed

At the start of the season the ISU tonkers set their sights on a respectable season and a high finish in the conference meet. Their vigorous practice sessions were ruled over by Coach Archie Harris. In dual meet competition, the Birds had a 4-6 record defeating conference rival Central Michigan while losing to Western Illinois and Eastern Illinois. A highlight of the season was a trip by the squad to the Fort Lauderdale Florida Forum, a week long swim meet. In the conference meet the underclassmen on the squad carried the burden of a high finish, but even though they produced fine times, they finished in last place behind Central Michigan. I-Stote's only first place in the conference meet was earned by Rich Higgins in the three-meter diving event. The only other swimmers to place in the meet were Mike Konow in the 50-yard free style and Joe Plock in the 200 and 400-yard individual medley events. Throughout the season there were several other tonkers that showed much promise. They were Dick Keltner and Jack Jungerick. One swimmer Bob Toothaker a defending conference champion was stricken by mono and as a result was not able to maintain his first place in the conference. The team worked hard but, the strength of the schedule was just too much as they faced teams such as Indiana State, Evansville, Augustana and Valparaiso. One of the State victories came against our cross-town rival, Illinois Wesleyan. With the development of these sophomores and the improvement of the freshmen, the Redbirds should improve their dual meet work and their place in the IIAC.

This year's Running Redbird basketball team produced the best regular season record in the history of the school. The final ratings found the Redbirds in third and fourth in the UPI and AP respectively. The players responsible for this fine showing were a trio of seniors with some help from underclassmen. George Terry and Co-captains Steve Arends and Jerry McGreal were the seniors who led the team to this outstanding season while practically rewriting the ISU record book in the process. At the season's end all three were in the top five scorers in the school's history and Steve Arends had established himself as the leading rebounder. Jerry McGreal was chosen as a first team All-American by the AP and he and George Terry were Honorable Mention on the UPI. The Redbirds began their season by crushing Whitewater State and then defeating major college opponents Montana and Western Michigan. When the conference began the Redbirds encountered their old nemesis Central Michigan who they defeated twice in succession. Then came Christmas Tournament time and the Redbirds met with two of the three losses at the Pan-American tournament. These were consecutive losses to Pan-American and Central Oklahoma. Returning to conference play, the Runnin' Redbirds defeated Western Illinois twice and Eastern Illinois twice. These victories started a string that would run until the Redbirds were defeated in the final game of the NCAA regional. This 18 game winning streak assured the Battling Birds of an undisputed conference crown as they went 12 and 0 in the conference although their final victories were dearly paid for as George Terry lost some teeth and Steve Arends was knocked out. The Birds gained some revenge in the course of the season as they broke Central Michigan's home court winning streak and near the end of the season defeated Southwest Missouri on a shot by Jerry McGreal with nine seconds remaining in the game. Southwest Missouri had defeated the Birds at Evansville the year before. In the NCAA tourney, the favored Redbirds won their opening game by defeating DePauw 83-81 on a last second shot by George Terry, but on the second night Indiana proved to be too much for the Birds and they bowed out of the tourney and the season. The season mark of 25-3 has to be one of the best achieved by a Redbird quintet.

This year's edition of the Baby Birds looked very much like their counterparts on the varsity. Led by a good front line with fast shooting guards, the Baby Birds had a fine record. Playing before many of the varsity games, the freshman squad was introduced to the fast, rugged pace of college basketball. In one game they scored 79 points in the second half to come from behind to win by a large margin. One of the many players who revealed that they had potential varsity skills was John Conklin, who scored high for the Birds at the beginning of the year and then became a playmaker. Leading rebounders for the Freshmen were Don Todd, Dale Janssen and Dennis Ramer. Larry Nord, Dennis Spaulding and Doug Wise also showed particular promise. This year the team was coached by Dale Cruse and Steve Fisher, who showed much skill in their rookie season at ISU. With a little practice, these boys could add much to next year's varsity with the lessons gained from a season of freshman basketball.

Dale Jonssen arches a shot toward the hoop.

I-State's gymnastics squad came a long way this year as they improved consistently throughout the dual meet season. The scores that the players achieved throughout the season were good, but the competition was stiff and the Redbirds finished the season with a 7-8 dual meet mark and a fine second place showing in the conference meet. This year the team travelled to Colorado over semester break and met some stiff competition in Ft. Lewis, Colorado State (Greeley) and the University of Denver. They lost these three meets but gained some valuable experience. The Big Red were led this year by Co-captains Willy Vrba and Jim Prombo in addition to Ron Bauer, Tod Fassbender, Mel Wheeler and Paul Reichl. In the conference meet, the Redbirds finished second to Western Illinois. They were led to this placing by Lee Combs' first in the parallel bars and Ron Bauer's first in the horizontal bar and second in the floor exercise. In the all-around competition Tod Fassbender, who missed several meets, came back to take third. With Bauer and Combs returning and the addition of several promising freshmen to the team, it should be a very exciting team next year. The team might also be aided by the new NCAA ruling that allows freshmen to compete on the varsity level. One loss that the team is suffering is in the high bar. In competition over the last three years, ISU has only lost this event three times. But with the promise shown by the underclassmen of this squad, the future looks bright.

WRESTLING

SECOND IN CONFERENCE

This year's wrestling team aimed at winning its fifth straight conference crown and improving on its national ranking. Coach Koehler supervised the workouts that the grapplers went through. Their season was slow in starting due to injuries to Curt Sexton, Kent Johansen, Robb Rennix and Bill Meyers. When these boys recovered from their injuries, the team led by Captain Dave Eberhard compiled a 7-4 dual meet record and a number ten position in the national rankings, a fourth year in a row in the top ten. This year the Birds wrestled Big Ten competition in the Universities of Iowa and Wisconsin. In dual meet competition with the conference schools, the grapplers were undefeated for the fifth consecutive year. In the conference meet, the Redbirds were upset by Eastern Illinois. The Birds gained some consolation as Curt Sexton was named as the outstanding wrestler in the conference. In addition to this Curt finished second in the NCAA college division as the Redbirds finished ninth overall. In the NCAA meet Eberhard, Mann, Jacobson, Rennix, Fiorini and Beilfuss represented ISU in addition to second place finisher Sexton to accumulate the point total. In the conference meet, Sexton again was a high finisher as he took a first place as did Rick Mann. Others that turned in fine jobs for the Redbirds were Dennis Riccio and Jay Few. This season could have been better if it had not been for the many injuries which produced line-up problems. At one time or another most of the first line wrestlers were out of action. The winning record shown by the Birds indicates that there was much depth on the team and that next year the team will be just as good if not better. It was still a fine season, one that many teams would be proud to own.

Individuals Highlight Disappointing Year

Runner strains as his time is called.

With many fine individual performers, the track team was handicapped by lack of depth and injuries to many topflight performers. The extended cold weather of the spring also hampered development. The Redbirds, though not winning any dual meets, placed well in the big meets in which individual Redbirds performed well. Arnie Giles, a junior, Most Valuable Player and co-captain elect, was the leading scorer for the Redbirds by placing high in the long jump, triple jump and javelin competition. He also participated in the highly competitive Drake Relays, where he performed well, but failed to place. Other strong individual performers included Mike Shea in the sprints, Mike Askew in the distance events, Dick Forrest and Bev Terry in the pole vault, Len Zebas in the unusual combination of the shot put and high jump and Art Newbrough, co-captain elect, in the 440 and the relays. The Redbirds made strong showings in the DePauw Invitational, the State College Meet and the Elmhurst Relays. These meets enabled the strong individual to accumulate points and thereby account for the Redbird showings. The conference meet expected to see the Redbirds place well, but injuries to Newbrough, Shea and Terry saw the Redbirds slump to a fourth place finish. These injuries along with the strength of the other conference schools helped the slump along. But the team worked hard and individuals set personal records.

A first place finish in the NCAA Mid-East Regional was the highlight of another season for Coach Bass and his diamondmen. Although they did not repeat as IIAC champions, the Redbirds attained a goal that had eluded them the year before—the NCAA Regional. The Redbirds were led to a 20-13-1 record by junior, third baseman Dick Conrad, who, at the season's end, was elected Most Valuable Player. He led the team in batting with a .333 average and made many sparkling plays in the field. Les Coates and Lee Boyko each drove in 27 runs and Steve Heaton, a lead-off man, led the team in runs scored with 22. Pitching, the most important part of the game, saw Eddie Sennett and Joe Wischnowski start many important games. Buzz Capra helped out as a starter and reliever, but it was Sennett and Wischnowski, the two seniors with 5-6 and 6-1 won-lost records respectively, who were the standouts. Sennett's victory over Kentucky Wesleyan in the regional gained revenge for our defeat by the Wildcats in basketball and moved the team into the regional finals. In the finals, Wischnowski pitched a fine game in defeating Hiram College. This defeat broke a 14-game winning streak for Hiram College. The Redbirds proceeded no further in national competition because the NCAA will not have a national tourney until 1968.

The conference was won by Central Michigan. The Redbirds played the Chippewas the last game of the season and needed only one victory in a Saturday doubleheader, but this was to be denied them and the Chips claimed the conference crown. Previously, the Redbirds had swept their week-end series with the other conference schools by the identical scores of 2 games to 1. As usual the Redbirds made their annual springtime pilgrimage to the South, where they started off in fine style by winning their first four games before they were defeated. The Redbirds lost a 14-inning thriller to Northwestern on their return to the North. This loss must have stirred up the Redbirds as they mauled North Park 10-3 and MacMurray 12-4. Previous to the loss to Northwestern the Redbirds had beaten Southwestern of Memphis 17-4. Against our traditional rival Illinois Wesleyan, the 'Birds swept a doubleheader by the scores of 3-0 and 3-2. The team was marked with a never-say-die spirit which moved the players to battle from behind in many games. Even though the Redbirds lost to Eastern Illinois 10-9 they had battled back from a 7-0 deficit. This exciting season must rank as one of the finest in ISU history due to the fine play exhibited by the players and the coaches and the first place finish in the NCAA Regional.

Redbirds Second in IIAC

This fine Redbird tennis team repeated its second place finish in the conference. Again it was Eastern Illinois who nosed out the Redbirds for the conference crown. The Redbirds opened their season by taking their annual southern trip on which they lost only one meet. The loss was the first meet of the trip and after this the Redbirds had little difficulty in winning until they ran into a tough Bradley squad which defeated them 6-3. The Redbirds resumed their winning ways by blanking Central Michigan 8-0. The Redbirds then had no trouble until they ran into a stubborn University of Illinois team that sneaked by with a 5-4 victory. The final loss of the season came in the last dual meet of the season and here the Redbirds were defeated by the eventual conference champions. The Redbirds were led to a fine 14-4 season by Steve Price, a junior who had a 22-2 record. Steve, whose only losses were to Eastern Illinois, was elected the Most Valuable Player of the season's end. Jim Whitman, the only senior on the team and the captain, regained the number one rating in the conference which he had lost the year before. Wayne Hancock, another junior, also won a conference championship in the singles. The highlights of this season were a second place finish at the Kirksville, Missouri Tournament and a first place finish at the Midwest Tourney in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. The season ended as Steve Price, Jim Whitman and Roger Jenks, a sophomore, played in the NCAA tourney held in Chicago. This 14-4 season has to rank as one of the best in the history of the Redbird tennis team considering the team performance and the fine individual play exhibited by the team members.

Redbirds Cop Conference Crown

A team that at the beginning of the season was predicted to have a good chance to replace Western Illinois as conference champions lived up to all expectations. They not only won the IIAC championship, but they went on to distinguish themselves by placing sixth in the NCAA College Division tourney. The season got off to a fine start as the golfers of Coach Weisbecker placed eleventh out of the thirty-eight schools entered in the prestigious Miami (Fla.) Intercollegiate Tourney. The Redbirds then fought their way through a series of matches in which they had a 16-7-1 dual meet record. The team was led by Frank Niepagan, a sophomore, who averaged 77.2 strokes for the season. He placed fourth in the NCAA College Division Tourney, while teammate Mike Orrison, a senior and Captain of the team, placed sixth. Orrison went on to place eighth in the NCAA University Division Tourney. Captain Orrison also led the team to the conference crown as he placed first in the conference meet at Orland Park. The team was seriously handicapped in the post-season tournaments due to the injury of Dave Delweiler, a junior who averaged 77.8 strokes. The overall record of the Redbird team was 48-20-1 and it must rate as one of the finest records ever compiled by a Redbird golf team. They faced some of the toughest competition in the country. The Murray State Invitational and the Miami Intercollegiate always attract the best players. This year Notre Dame and several of the Big Ten schools were represented and still the Redbirds placed well. In addition to these fine schools Purdue and some of the Iowa state schools appeared on the schedule. Through all this fine competition the Redbirds came forth and proved they were champions.

During his first year with us, President Samuel E. Braden has shown an active interest in a wide range of university issues.

THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Samuel Braden, who was inaugurated as tenth president of Illinois State May eleventh, has taken over the university at a time of expansion. Even though his first year has been a period of adjustment, President Braden has kept in step with the growing university and has added proposals of his own. An October proposal by the President advocated an increase in athletic and service fees of students, the purpose of which was to provide support for programs of interest to the entire university. He has worked with the University Council and student organizations to cope with the problems arising over the hours and parking issues. Dr. Braden's interests are not only administrative. By recognizing the Student Senate and allowing time for receiving students in his office, he has established an attitude of friendliness and warmth to which the students have responded.

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL

The University Council, a faculty organization, is essentially an advisory group to the President and is concerned with affairs of academic policy. Members of the Council include the President of the university, Dr. Braden; the Vice-President for Academic Affairs; the Vice-President for Student Services; and faculty members who are elected by the faculty themselves. Almost all changes in the rules and policy of Illinois State University, such as the recent abolition of women's hours, must go through this council for approval before action can be taken. Council meetings are held monthly and are open to all faculty members.

Council members seek a solution for the growing parking problem on campus.

VICE-PRESIDENTS

The five Vice-Presidents of the University and President Braden comprise a council known as the Presidency. Aside from each of their individual responsibilities, these five men work as a unit on making many of the policies for Illinois State. They act on major decisions and work on the budget. Because of their extended duties outside of their specific areas, each vice-president has at least one assistant. The Presidency, which meets once a week, works closely with such things as the new union, newly proposed academic buildings, new dorms, and other campus developments.

DEANS AND DIRECTORS

The Deans and Directors of ISU comprise the student personnel program which makes available to the campus services of a personal, social, and academic nature. The Student Deans are concerned with all facets of student life. It is through these deans that the students of ISU can achieve a voice and a part in campus affairs. The directors of ISU supervise services which provide other conveniences for students and faculty.

COLLEGE OF APPLIED SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Putting the machinery of a new college in good working order has comprised the bulk of activity within the College of Applied Science and Technology. Organizational as well as philosophical changes were made in all three departments in order to keep pace with all of the rapid changes and developments in each area. The Industrial Technology Department acquired a numerically controlled milling machine at which an operator devises coding forms while the machine does the manual labor. A shift from an exclusive teacher education program was planned in the Department of Agriculture. To meet rapid change, the department established courses in agribusiness fields. In the Home Economics Department, emphasis moved toward interdisciplinary programs involving sociology and psychology.

Harvey S. Woods, Head of Department of Agriculture.

Blossom Johnson, Acting Head of Department of Home Economics.

AGRICULTURE

As part of a growing concern for the needs of agriculture students in newly developing areas, the staff of the Agriculture Department met weekly to develop a wider choice of courses in the curriculum. The department produced a forty minute sound and color movie on their activities. The livestock judging teams won national honors in competition with the largest agricultural schools in the United States. They competed in such places as the Cow Palace in San Francisco and the Amphitheater in Chicago. Research projects were done in the areas of soils, crops, and livestock.

HOME ECONOMICS

Lectures formed one of the largest segments of the extracurricular activities in the Home Economics Department. A consumer specialist from the Food and Drug Administration, a representative of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, the designer and director of the Vocational Guidance and Rehabilitation Service in Cleveland, and a speaker from the Consumer Union, Incorporated, presented topics throughout the year. Members of the department were also guest lecturers and served on the North Central Evaluation Committee for high schools.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

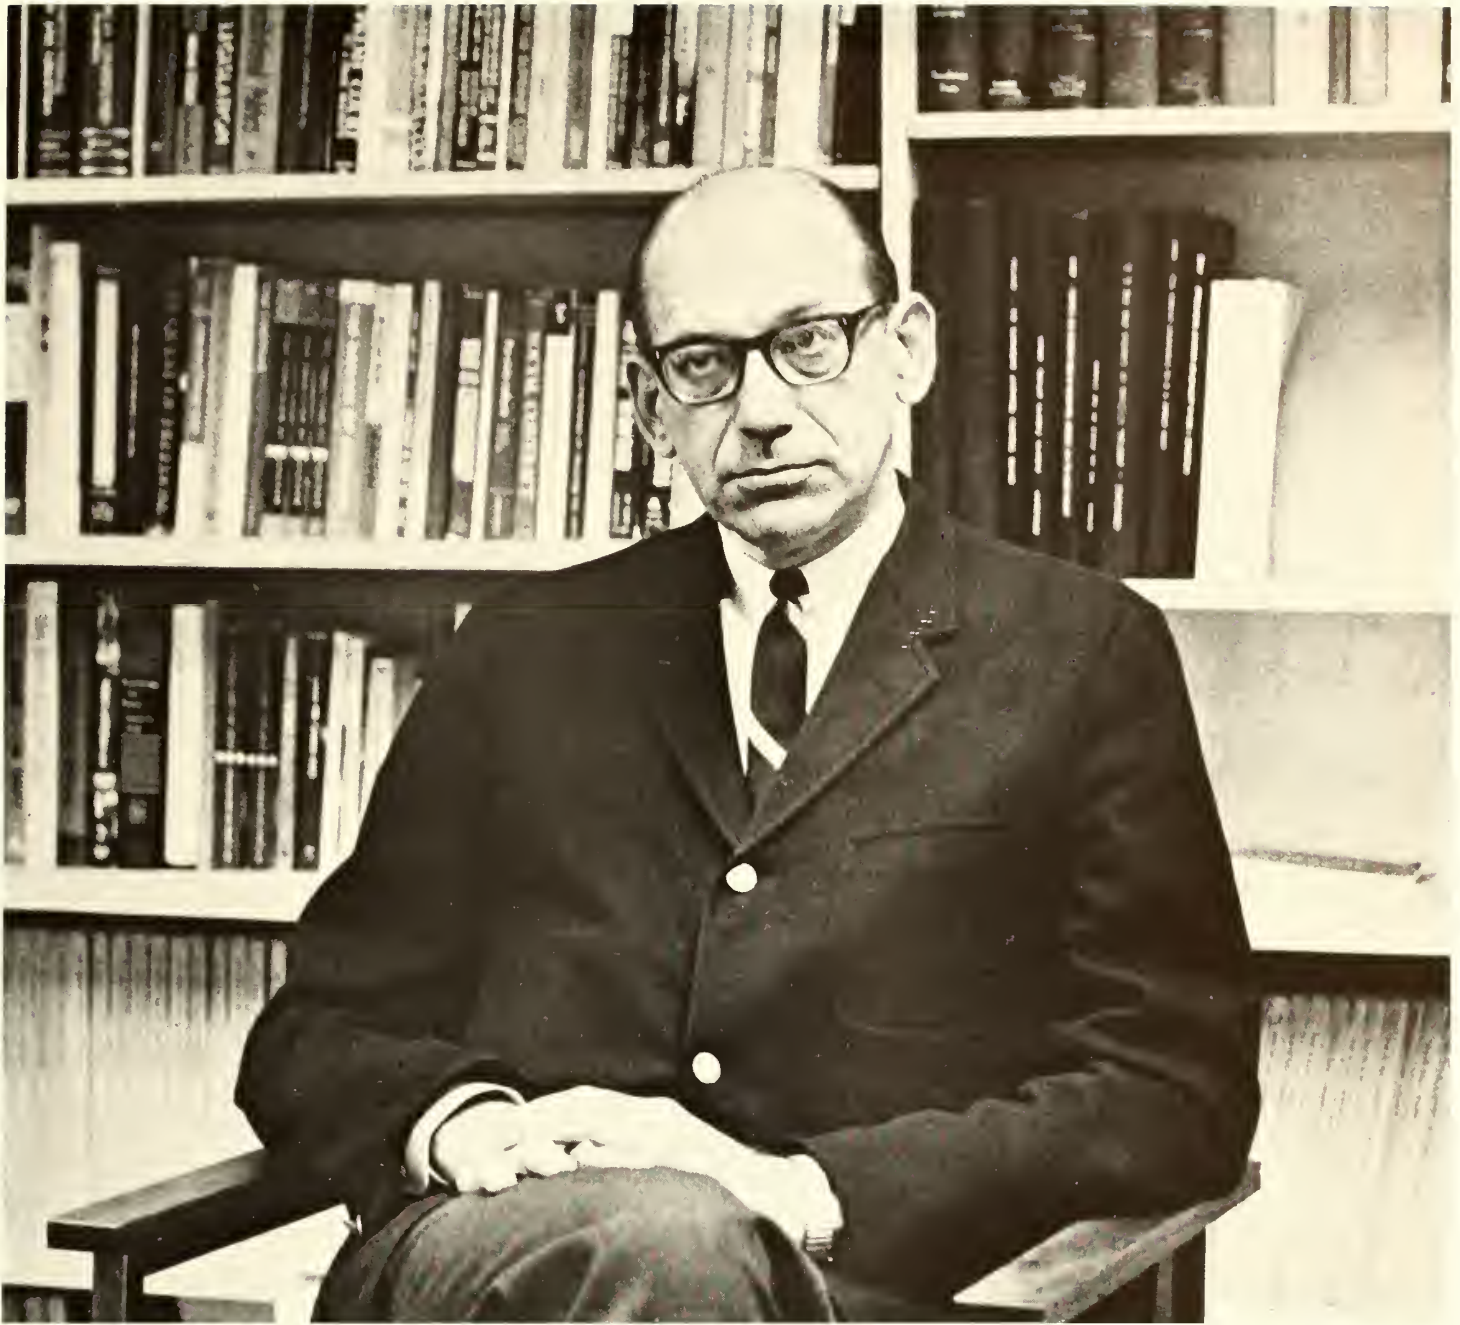

A major action taken by the Industrial Arts Department this year was the purchase of a numerically controlled milling machine for use in the metals area. Also this year, a twenty-four hour marathon was held with the purpose of drafting teachers of computer graphics in the junior colleges of the state. Several new courses are as follows: two in the area of automotive mechanics, one in the area of technical computer programming, and one in machine shop technology. A one day seminar was held for graphic arts people in this vicinity.

John L. Johnston, Acting Head of Department of Industrial Arts.

Mr. Honn works with type of the University Press.

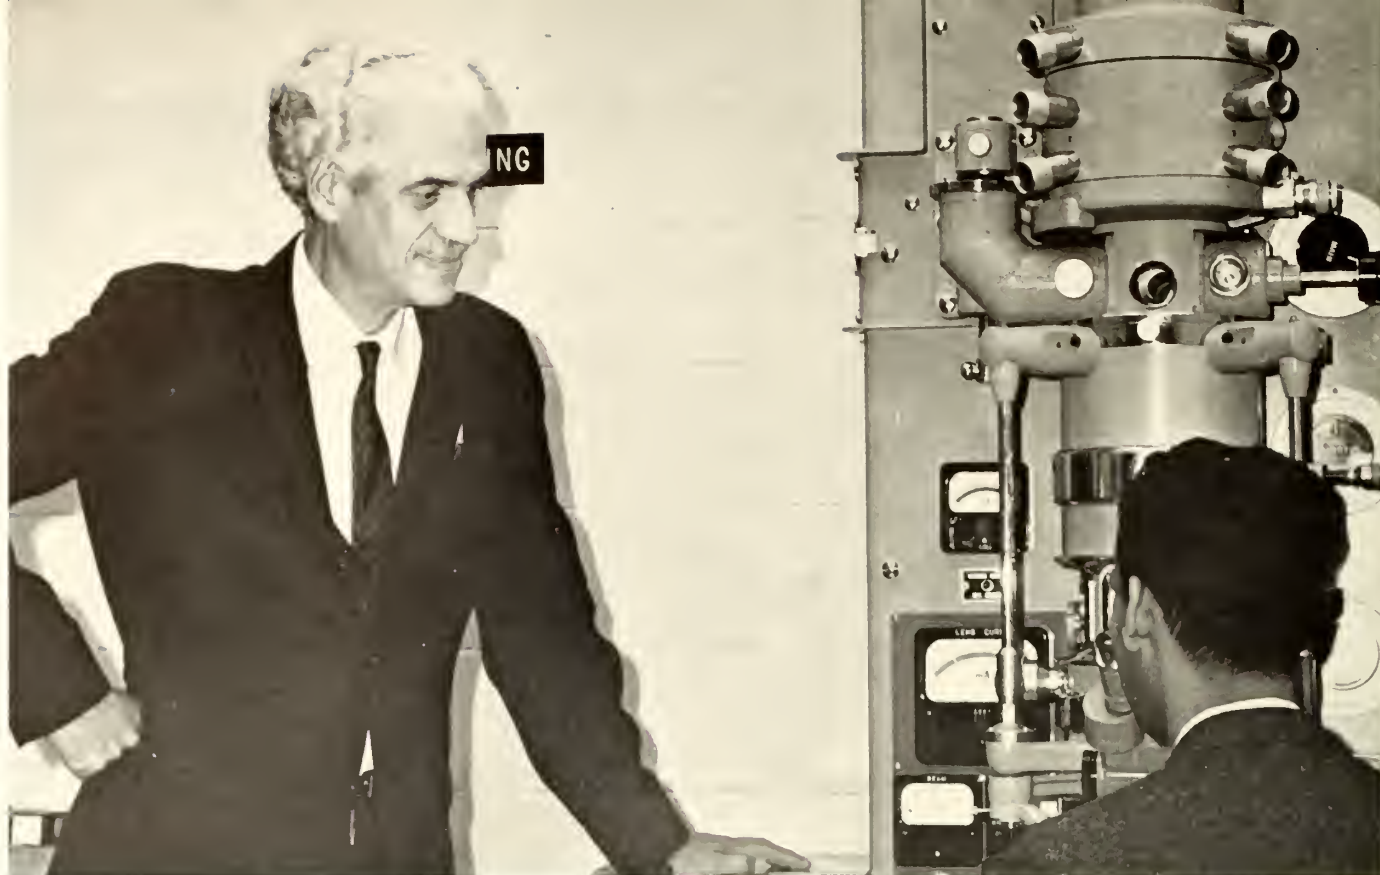

James K. Olsen, Dean of College of Arts and Sciences.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

A Department of Philosophy was newly added to the College of Arts and Sciences this year. Although course offerings in the department were few at the beginning, this department and the others in the college constantly added courses to their curricula. Fifteen areas of study—Biology, Chemistry, Economics, English, Foreign Languages, Geography, History, Library Science, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Psychology, Political Science, Sociology-Anthropology, and Speech—are under the guidance of Dean James Olsen, who assumed his position this year. The College Council, composed of elected faculty representatives, has selected committees to keep college functions running smoothly, and ad hoc faculty committees studied and recommended changes in curriculum and degree programs.

Omar R. Rilett, Head of Department of Biological Science.

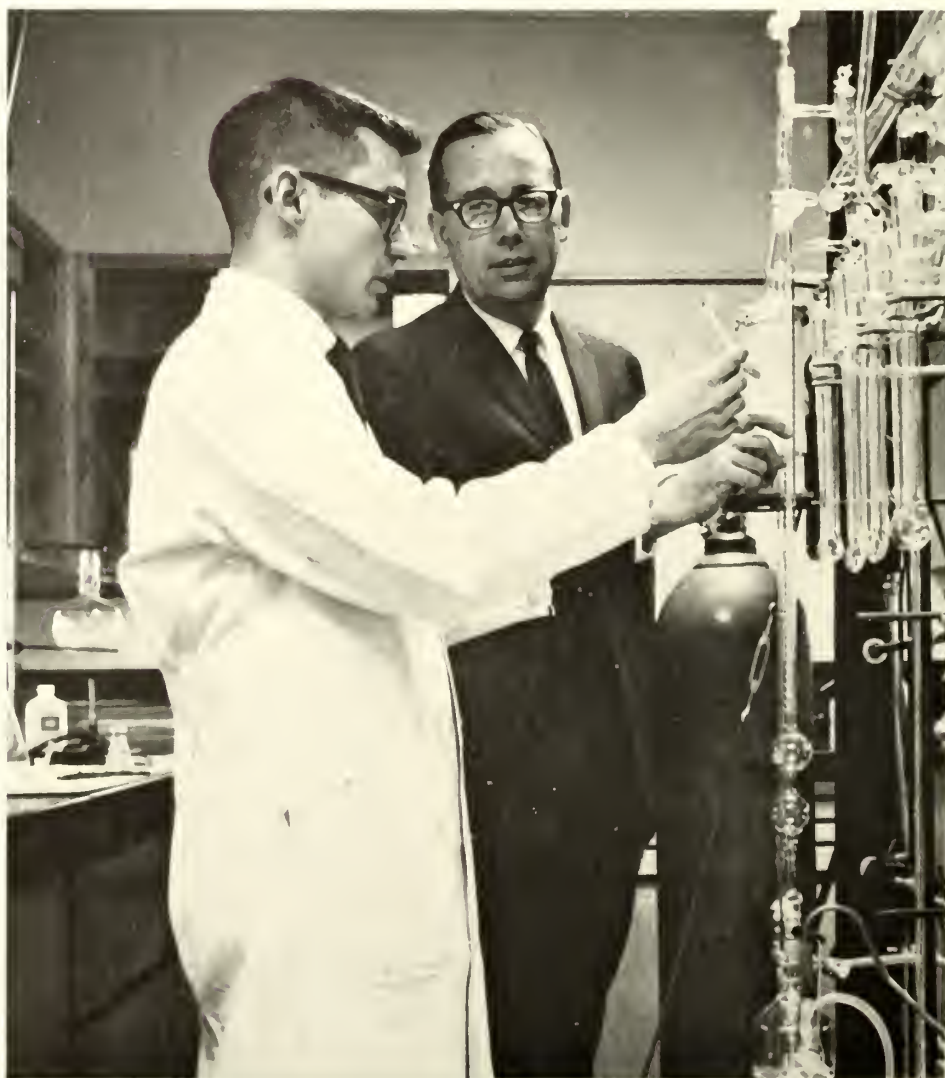

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE

A milestone in graduate education at ISU was passed this year when the first Doctor of Philosophy degree in the College of Arts and Sciences was awarded to a candidate in Biology. Weekly colloquia formed a major part of the Biology Department activities. During the fall semester, staff members and graduate students presented speeches. In addition to these seminars, the thirty-five staff members worked on curriculum changes for next year.

CHEMISTRY

The purchase and installment of a Perkin-Elmer nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer was one of the outstanding happenings in the Department of Chemistry this year. This instrument is used both in research and instruction. In addition to this purchase, the department sought approval from the American Chemistry Society for the undergraduate program. A new chemistry sequence for general education purposes was prepared this year.

Bernard L. Ryder, Head of Department of Chemistry.

Warren Harden, Head of Department of Economics.

Stanley Shumon, Acting Head of Department of English.

ECONOMICS

With the emphasis in the entire university being placed on the transition to liberal arts, the new Economics Department has worked along these lines. By introducing new courses and continuing work on a Master's Degree program, the department has met the demands of business, government, and students. Three undergraduate courses added to the curriculum were Introduction to Mathematical Economics, Intermediate Macroeconomics Theory, and Economic Development. Seminars were conducted by guest speakers and by James Cook and Bernard McCarney from ISU.

ENGLISH

The new emphasis in the English Department was on the extension of graduate level courses and plans were made for a doctoral degree. Within the structure of the department, this was the year of transition between department chairmen. Much of the year was spent in interviewing candidates. With the acquisition of the new courses, a new chairman, and the promise of a new class building when the department moves to Stevenson Hall of Humanities, the English Department will be an integral part of the new image of the university.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

In addition to a full curriculum in French, Spanish, German, and Latin, the Foreign Language Department began to expand the Russian curriculum this year. The acquisition of new facilities will help keep the department in pace with the university by allowing it to offer further courses in Russian, more advanced courses in the developed languages, and to offer additional languages such as Italian. This year the department aided a number of students in gaining affiliation with a European university for a "Junior Year Abroad".

Thomas E. Comfort, Head of Department of Foreign Language.

GEOGRAPHY- GEOLOGY

The Geography Department this year added "Geology" to its title, which indicates the direction in which the department completed expansion that had begun with the opening of the Schroeder Annex. This new emphasis on the study of geology was merely the first of many sections that will be increased as facilities are available and the student population demands them. From a small section of first floor Schroeder four years ago the Geography-Geology Department has begun a growth that will soon fill over half of Schroeder Hall.

John E. Trotter, Head of Department of Geography-Geology.

Roger J. Champagne, Head of Department of History.

Joe W. Kraus, Director of Libraries.

HISTORY

Expansion is the key word which describes the History Department. Newly formed in the fall of 1966, this department has experienced a fifty per cent increase in the number of majors in the field. Expansion of the faculty and of the curriculum have also taken place. As a result of this departmental growth, Phi Alpha Theta, an organization for history majors was formed. During the year, this club held meetings with lectures being given by people from within and outside of the department. Faculty members also gave public lectures.

LIBRARY SCIENCE

The Department of Library Science completed its second year as a major field of study. Many changes were made in the department. Students were seen studying in the halls, and check-out counters were set up to allow for the opening of all the inner doors of the library. A fine arts section was added in the reading room, and the library hours were extended. New students received instruction on the use of the library by attending lectures on their own time. Plans were also made for using data processing equipment.

MATHEMATICS

The Mathematics Department of ISU is one of the largest producers of secondary school mathematics teachers in the entire nation. Last year the Math Department gave ninety-five Bachelors degrees and twenty Masters degrees. Four members of the Math Department staff are working on research programs. The department made plans for a doctorate program in mathematics and mathematics education for the near future. Dr. McCormick was named "Boss of the Year" by the Bloomington-Normal Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Clyde T. McCormick, Head of Department of Mathematics.

PHILOSOPHY

The newest discipline to become a department in the College of Arts and Sciences was Philosophy. Formerly a part of the Education Department, Philosophy became a separate entity, and will offer a minor beginning next fall. A major in the department will not be offered until more instructors are recruited for the faculty. During this year, Dr. Louis Andrade was the entire Philosophy faculty. Five courses were offered this year, and student reception was very encouraging. The courses ranged from Introduction to Philosophy to Ethics.

Louis Andrade, Assistant Professor of Philosophy.

Harold J. Born, Head of Department of Physics.

PHYSICS

The Physics Department, in its second year, was given approval for the granting of a Masters Degree in Physics. The new astronomy course attracted an unexpectedly large number of students, and plans were made for inaugurating a new general education course, "Introduction to Physics and Astronomy." Several new physicists on the staff started work on research projects in the areas of low energy nuclear physics, thermoelectricity, and theories of magnetic ordering. The planetarium was used by many schools in the area during the year.

Alice L. Ebel, Head of Department of Political Science.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

There were over one hundred undergraduate students and twenty-five graduate students in the Political Science Department this year. Masters Degrees in Political Science were offered for the first time. Before this year, Masters degrees were offered under the general heading of Social Science. Graduate seminars were held every two weeks. New courses were offered in Latin American government and politics. A mock presidential election, organized by the department under the direction of Dr. Zeidenstein, was held in April.

Walter H. Friedhoff, Head of Department of Psychology.

PSYCHOLOGY

The newly-created Psychology Department made a complete revamp of the psychology curriculum this year to give more freedom of choice to the students. Reducing the number of required semester hours for a major and increasing almost all courses to three credit hours were new developments in the department. One book and twenty-five research papers written by the teaching staff were published, and additional office facilities were acquired during the year.

SOCIOLOGY-ANTHROPOLOGY

A revision of the curriculum by adding courses and by expanding courses to three hours credit were among the new developments in the Department of Sociology-Anthropology. Sociologist-anthropologists Dr. Robert Winch of Northwestern University and Dr. Ray Mack of the Russel Sage Foundation conducted seminars. A field school in archaeology at Dixon Mounds was among other opportunities offered by the department.

Vernon Pohlmann, Head of Department of Sociology-Anthropology.

Charles A. White, Head of Department of Speech.

SPEECH

The Department of Speech has continued to grow. Each of the individual divisions of the department— theater, radio and TV, speech clinic, forensics, and speech itself—expanded its program to meet the needs of the students. The acquisition of an additional video tape was one improvement. The Repertory Theater obtained a bus this year to use on tours throughout the state. Another advance was the establishment of an experimental research laboratory in communication theory. A major in Radio-TV is in the planning stage for next year.

An often over-looked source of information in the library is the map room.

Lewis R. Toll, Acting Dean of College of Business.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

September 1967 saw the initiation of the College of Business at ISU. The College was founded under the direction of Acting Dean Lewis R. Toll. The three departments of the College of Business are the Department of Business Administration, the Department of Business Education, and the Department of Accounting. The College of Business was introduced to meet the rapidly increasing need for accountants and managerial trainees in fields of marketing, finance, and administration. The graduate offerings in the three departments of the college increased in number and provided for more workshops and research projects. All three departments are making plans for interdisciplinary education with other departments. Plans are in progress for a new building in which to house the college.

Thomas Brigham, Acting Head of Department of Accounting.

ACCOUNTING

The Department of Accounting opened its doors for the first time in the fall of 1967. The department was established for students having interests in becoming accountants. The accounting major program was a non-teaching program designed to provide the necessary course work essential to a career of professional accounting, including instruction in data processing. The department provided a number of graduate courses, and courses in advanced theory are being developed. These will include courses in systems analysis.

Earle H. Reese, Acting Head of Department of Business Administration.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The Department of Business Administration began in September of 1967. For the first time, the University offered a comprehensive major in Business Administration and a minor in General Business. The non-teaching program was designed to give the student a broad background in business. It allowed the student to elect one or more areas of business where he could receive a varying degree of specialization. Experimenting with programmed material was done in the insurance classes, and the marketing management classes used computers.

Arnold Condon, Acting Head of Department of Business Education.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The Department of Business Education was the predecessor of the College of Business. The department, housed in Turner Hall, provided for students a distributive education room, an electronic shorthand room, a ten-tape channel secretarial practice laboratory, and a computer room which was initially equipped with a computer and auxiliary machines. Before the formation of the College of Business, the Department of Business Education introduced its fourth major curriculum, distributive education, and added some professional education courses.

Students work on speed drills in a typing class at Turner Hall.

Henry J. Hermanowicz, Dean of College of Education.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

The College of Education is one college very interested in the fact that ISU ranks seventh in the nation in production of certified teachers. The Departments of Elementary and Special Education are the two largest in terms of number of undergraduate student majors. The Department of Education offers courses for prospective teachers in secondary education. The Department of Educational Administration has the largest doctoral program in the university. All student teaching arrangements are taken care of by the Department of Professional Laboratory Experiences. Metcalf and University High also provide preparatory experience.

EDUCATION

The Department of Education added a number of courses, primarily in the area of philosophy. The University Reading Study Center, a continuing part of the Education Department, operated for the benefit of students who wanted to improve their reading abilities. Through observation and participation, students learned skills necessary for working in a reading center at the high school or college level.

Leo E. Eastman, Head of Department of Education.

EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

The Department of Educational Administration is the only department in the university whose students are exclusively graduate students. The department has performed service functions throughout the area such as an annual survey of school districts who have cooperated to set up a field laboratory for graduate students, and individual staff members have served as consultants for numerous schools throughout the state.

Ben C. Hubbard, Head of Department of Educational Administration.

Helen M. Nonce, Head of Department of Elementary Education.

V. L. Replogle, Director of Metcalf Elementary School.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

In line with the university's growth, the Department of Elementary Education has developed a flexible undergraduate program designed to prepare teachers for team teaching, ungraded programs, and teaching in culturally deprived areas. Junior participation in the future will utilize public schools as well as Metcalf school. The major research project was a study of the value of courses relating to child development and reading.

METCALF

Because of the growth of the college, Metcalf Elementary School formed a faculty committee for scheduling group observations. The students at Metcalf provided university students with diverse experience in child study. Although the provision of pre-student teaching experience was greatly emphasized, the school also did research this year on the possibility of a two year cycle for the teacher and her students and on independent learning.

Cecilia J. Lauby, Head of Department of Professional Laboratory Experiences.

PROFESSIONAL LABORATORY EXPERIENCES

The Professional Laboratory Experiences provides a chance for the teacher education student to place himself at the teacher's desk. The student teacher has a chance to apply all of the knowledge he has learned in theory to the actual classroom experience. This student teaching experience is available for every undergraduate in education curricula. A student applies for a student teaching position during his junior year after he has earned at least ninety hours. He then student teaches over a period of nine weeks during his senior year.

A student teacher at University High School helps his science class with an experiment.

Harald R. Phelps, Head of Department of Special Education.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Department of Special Education concentrated on curriculum development and improvement, including the expansion of its Masters Degree and doctorate program. Bringing guest speakers to campus and increasing many two hour credit courses to three and four hour credit courses were among other accomplishments of the year. Fairchild Hall, aided by the departmental Speech Clinic and its Reading and Hearing Center, provided valuable laboratory experience for the students concerned with educating the handicapped.

Horry D. Lovelass, Director of University High School.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL

Video-taping of various classes and experiments in freshman English were among the innovations this year at University High School. Boasting an enrollment of seven hundred twenty-five students, the high school is equipped for student teaching and for laboratory experiences. This year in many Secondary Education classes, college students were allowed to observe, participate, and then teach a lesson to the particular class. There is a braille room and a center for the physically handicapped included in the modern atmosphere of the institution.

Richard L. Desmond, Head of Unaffiliated Departments.

UNAFFILIATED DEPARTMENTS

The Unaffiliated Departments this year underwent the last part of a two-year program designed to maintain the organization of those departments which are in the process of change. For the Art, Music, and Physical Education Departments, this should be completed by next fall when they will become either independent colleges or will be affiliated with other departments. Summer institutes, tournaments, and clinics have highlighted activities in both the Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments. Studio work, including sculpture and glass blowing, has been experimented with in the Art Department. The Music and Art Departments have conducted several joint projects in various fine arts areas.

ART

Perhaps the greatest accomplishment of ISU's Art Department was the approval of the South Mall Art Building. In it there are possibilities for an expanded gallery for more display room, studio areas, and classrooms for general education art courses. Three art shows sponsored by the department were the faculty art show, the graduate art show, and the undergraduate art show. Presently, there are approximately forty faculty members in the department.

MEN'S HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Men's Health and Physical Education Department, in cooperation with the Women's Health and Physical Education Department, worked on a College of Physical Education. Purchases for the men's research laboratory included a physiograph which will enable physiological research and an oscilloscope flexometer used for research in motor learning. Other pieces of equipment purchased were a tarpaulin and a "cloud nine," an air-filled bag used in pole vaulting.

Louis F. Hoover, Head of Department of Art.

Arley F. Gillett, Head of Department of Men's Health and Physical Education.

WOMEN'S HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

In addition to annual activities, including the Orchesis Concert and Varuna Swim Show, the department sponsored the first Illinois State Women's Gymnastics Meet. This summer will be exciting for the department. Dr. Miriam Gray will head a federally financed institute in dance for men. Of the fourteen institutes to be held throughout the nation, ISU's will be the only one on dance. Summer workshops will be held for teachers interested in problems and techniques in certain areas, including a sports symposium and a jazz institute.

Phebe Scott, Head of Department of Health and Physical Education for Women.

MUSIC

On February twentieth of this year, the Music Department underwent its first accreditation evaluation by the National Association of Schools of Music. This step is only one illustration of the growth within the department. Other signs of expansion have appeared in many areas, from revision of programs to purchase of equipment. The Master's degree was revised to provide areas of concentration in performance, history and literature, theory and composition, and music education. Thirteen newly installed electronic pianos were used for music education.

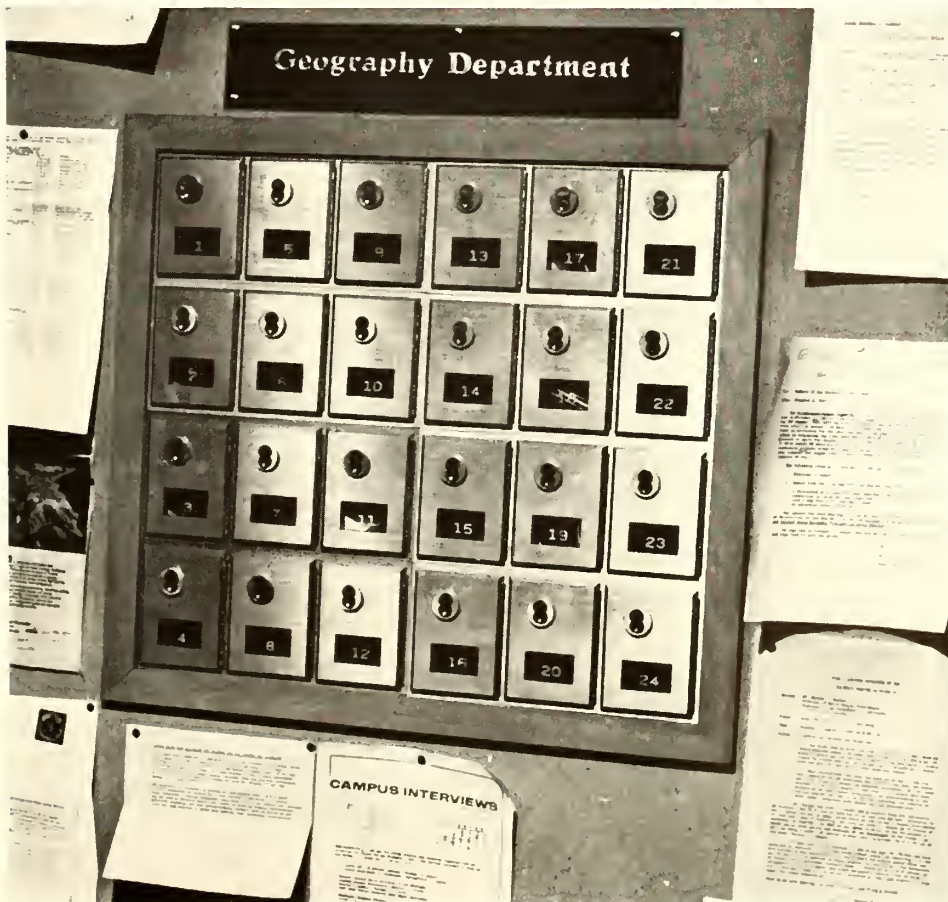

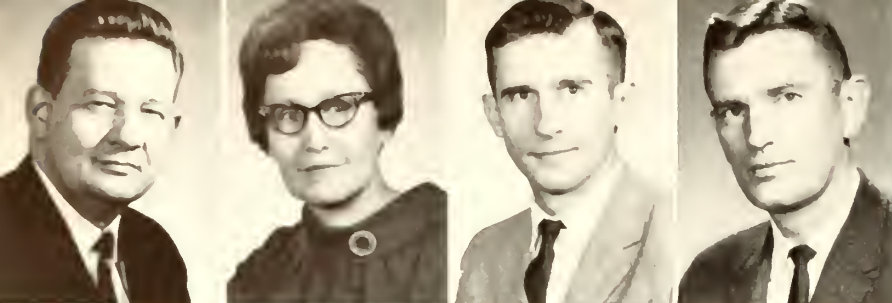

Joseph M. Wilson, Head of Department of Music.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

One of the major concerns of a graduate student is specialization. After four years of acquiring background knowledge at the undergraduate level, he is ready for depth study in one area. During the time he spends in graduate school, the student prepares for writing his thesis or taking his comprehensive exams. In his spare time, he may work as an assistant to a professor or as a counselor in a residence hall. As an assistant to a professor, he gains experience by grading papers and occasionally lecturing. Working as a dorm counselor provides excellent background experience for those in psychology and counselling and gives a graduate student a chance to work actively in his discipline.

SENIOR ADVISORY BOARD

The Senior Advisory Board found most of its attention focused on coordination of the senior activities which culminated in graduation. The board sent letters concerning graduation announcements to all seniors and also planned commencement exercises. The advisory board sponsored an all-senior class meeting at which seniors could express their opinions concerning a class gift, and they held dances for raising funds for the gift. The board was coordinator for the outstanding senior awards. Representatives from the advisory board were on the Inauguration Committee for the inauguration of President Braden. The board continued the popular Stuff-a-Stocking project, and made plans to pass this project on to the incoming freshman class. The funds from Stuff-a-Stocking were donated to the Booker T. Washington School and the Victory Hall Boys' Home.

JUNIOR ADVISORY BOARD

Innovation is a key word in describing the activities of the Junior Advisory Board this year. For the first time in many years, an individual class participated in the Homecoming float competition. This year the Board sponsored the Junior class float, and even went so far as to win third prize. Another first for the Junior Advisory Board, and for the University, were the Homecoming buttons. Over three thousand were sold. Since the sale was such a success, the Board hopes to pass it on as a class project and tradition. The Board also changed its meeting procedures this year. Rather than following a strict parliamentary formula, business was carried on through discussion sessions embodying a "casual formality." This system seems to have resulted in greater efficiency. The Advisory Board also sent a representative to Student Senate meetings; this has helped coordinate activities of the two groups and has given the Senate more Board support. Thus the Board was very active.

Throughout the past year, lectures such as John Braun's "Symposium on Sex", and singing entertainment, such as the New Folks group and the Insiders concert, from which has been cut an album entitled "Insiders in Concert at ISU", have been sponsored by the Sophomore Class under the supervision of the Sophomore Class Advisory Board. Made up of petitioning members of the sophomore class, the advisory board has kept informed on campus activities by sending representatives to many of the meetings of campus organizations. It has kept members of the class informed by issuing newsletters which contained information concerning the foster child from Taiwan, sponsored by the class for two years. Annual projects undertaken by the class are the construction of the queen's float for the Homecoming parade and the presentation of the Sophomore Cotillion formal. The Cotillion is held each spring and this year was entitled "When Knights Were Bold."

FRESHMAN ADVISORY BOARD

The representative of the freshman class, the freshman advisory board, coordinated the activities of the freshmen and strove to orientate the freshman class with college activities. One of the first duties of the board was to write the constitution for the class of 1971. To help them define their role as an advisory group, the officers attended a leadership convention at Northwestern University in the spring of the year. The board sponsored several dances to raise funds for the treasury for use in future years. The board was especially constructive in promoting freshman attendance at their games. It passed out schedules for the games, sold "Baby Birds" buttons, and made a "Go Baby Birds" banner to hang in the gymnasium during freshman games.
